

University field course!

shalan is working with Acadia University to run a university-level field course based out of the community. A few days in early September will be spent learning from community knowledge-holders like Frank and shalan, and others, at Stone Bear. We will focus on ecological and cultural knowledge. Then students will get together for two more days in mid October (weekend) to help with a mini project in the community. Additional activities will be attending community events.

All together this will count as a course credit, all paid for through a special scholarship through Acadia University. An undergraduate course credit will be made available to you.

If you would like more information, contact shalan!

Requirements: BRFN band member, at least 18 years old, and have a high school diploma or equivalency or have been out of high school for at least 1 year. You also have to be prepared to be outdoors for much of the week, and be open to team/collaborative projects.
